[let's squeeze these three ideas into the same line]

Can you give this person some wild and crazy hair? Try using lines with different thickness, texture, and contour.

¿Puedes darle a esta persona un cabello salvaje y loco? Intente usar líneas con diferentes espesores, texturas y contornos.

This poor peacock lost its feathers! Make him some new ones using lines with different thickness, texture, and contour.

¡Este pobre pavo real perdió sus plumas! Hazle algunos nuevos usando líneas con diferentes amplitudes, texturas y contornos.

{exprimamos estas tres ideas en una sola línea}

art in the park trading cards

Every week, we'll celebrate our learning with new collectible artist trading cards. Come every week to collect them all, and at the end we will be able to use them to play a game!

Here is what we learned about today!

LINE CONTOUR

Line Contour refers to the shape that a line makes. All lines are either straight, curved, or angled, or a mixture of any of those three things.

The shape of lines in artwork can affect how someone's eyes move over a piece. Lines can also create the look of movement, and can evoke feelings.

LINE WEIGHT

Line Weight, or Quality, refers to how thick or thin a line is. An artist might use a thick line to create the look of a shadow, or a thin line to make things look far away.

Varying the Line Weight can also show where an object is thicker or thinner. It makes an object look like it has form.

¡Aquí está lo que aprendimos hoy!

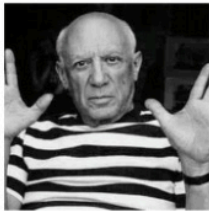

Cada semana, celebramos nuestro aprendizaje nuevo con fichas coleccionables.
